Demand these four key factors when selecting a hosting provider:

1 EXPERIENCE

A hosting provider's track record with managing complex, mission-critical systems, should be the first order of consideration behind your selection process. It's important to know if you have someone backing you up when things go "bump in the night."

TOTAL COST OF OWNERSHIP 2

Different hosting providers take different approaches to their pricing structure in terms of what is included...and what is charged incrementally. It's important to understand your long-term needs, and how those map to the provider's service offerings and total costs.

3 SERVICE METHODOLOGY

When hosting critical enterprise applications, response delays and slow ticket resolution just won't cut it. Ensure you're getting "white glove service," so you can call the person assigned to your account, and receive assurance that issues are addressed ASAP – with regular updates on progress and resolution.

AGILITY AND FLEXIBILITY 4

Is hosting the foundation of your current provider's business or is it just an add-on? Every organization is unique and requirements change frequently. Private? Public? Hybrid? Your provider should work with you to build and develop a solution around your specific needs and long-term strategy.

at the end of the day...

IS YOUR HOSTING PROVIDER COMING UP SHORT?

"We knew Symmetry's experience hosting SAP environments for multinational corporations meant they had bulletproof cloud hosting since system uptime for ERP systems is paramount, but we soon realized by the level of attention and service from their team that we'd found a true business partner and not just another cloud hosting company."

– Sandy McGee | Chief Operating Officer, Vrakas CPAs + Advisors
